FOREWORD

"Lift we the twilight curtains of the past,
And turning from familiar sight and sound,
Sadly and full of reverence, let us cast
A glance upon tradition's shadowy ground."

Village of Albion
Chamber of Commerce — 1905

In these days of hippie youth, erratic philosophies, and despair of militarism, it seems we should pause and take a look at our country's past and tradition.

The spirit of our past pioneers, like those who settled this area around Albion when it was just a wilderness, is something we all can be proud of as an ideal. Our undaunted forefathers had the determination to succeed and their patriotism helped build this country to a thriving community. It is the resolve and fortitude of these men that has kept our country and town growing.

We believe in the continuation of this pioneer spirit, in the integrity of American youth, the patriotism of our forefathers, and in the dedication of the youth of Albion to do their part to build a better world.

And maybe by remembering our past we can be better prepared to help fulfill the future which is ours.

DEDICATION

We can not measure how much we owe to those who in the past have perservered for the future, sticking to their time-tried ideals. We, of the Chevron 1968, dedicate this book to the men and women of Albion whose spirit of service has helped this town grow and prosper. May we also have the hope and optimism of the early settlers, and rely on their beliefs which enabled them to withstand hardships and remain responsible to their families, town and country. May their hard work in the contemplation of an uncertain future in a wilderness land remain an inspiration to us.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

The Board of Education consists of nine civic minded members of the community who give a great deal of their time and energy to the school, because of their interest in Albion's youth.

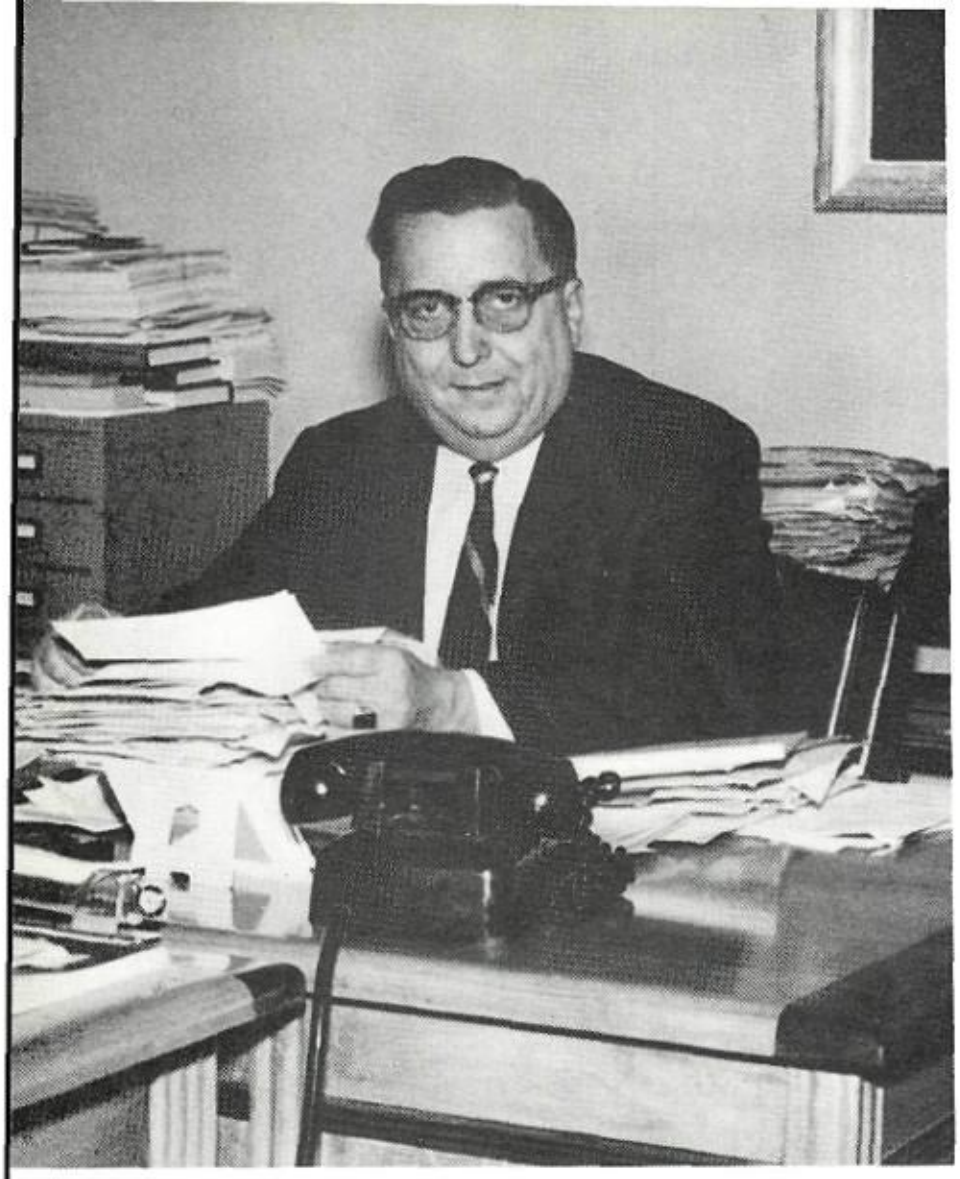
The members are busily involved in long hours of work, endless reports and the intricate problems of school operation. They work continuously to find answers to complex problems that we never know exist. Through their eagerness, they provide our school with the best educational facilities possible.

Therefore, in this space we the students of Albion High School, would like to express our sincere gratitude to these fine citizens who are helping us enter the future well prepared.

Throughout the past and the present, scores of people have contributed to what Albion is. The advice and knowledge passed on from generation to generation has enabled Albion to grow and prosper. Our teachers have been important in this growth, giving us guidance that has taught us respect, helped us to find ourselves and to become good citizens for the future.

At times we gripe, but in our memories we hold many good recollections of past teachers as well as classmates. We remember that they helped us in our work, class activities ,dances, clubs, and in choosing the right path for the future. We are grateful to the faculty and administration for the encouragement they have given us to keep us striving.

FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION



MR. GEORGE WOLFE

There is a certain man in our school system who has a great effect on everyone. He works diligently, but is barely noticed. Each year he does his best to present the students with good teachers. The Board of Education goes to him when in need of advice based on education, experience and on a level head. This man possesses an upper hand in numerous school activities. Although his tasks are endless, he still manages to take part in civic activities. The result of his work is an efficiently operated institution of learning.

The man described above is Mr. George Wolfe. Although his title, Superintendent of Schools, implies a few of his many jobs, Mr. Wolfe actually surveys many facets of school life.

MR. THEODORE ANDERSON

The job of school principal is a job with a challenge. Mr. Anderson has a capacity for work which knows few, if any limitations. His interest in the welfare of the students and faculty members has helped make our school system efficient, disciplined and enjoyable. His personality is amiable but stern and his patience unending. This is a man with an often weary look, but a ready smile and a firm hand whose work often goes unrewarded. We take this opportunity now to thank him.

MR. WILLIAM HOST

With the ever-increasing demands placed upon schools today, Mr. Host helps to relieve the countless burdens shouldered by Mr. Wolfe. Day after day he deftly performs his essential tasks concerning our school's federal program, private schools, and textbooks. Working closely with Mr. William Monacelli, Mr. Host is also involved in the supervision of transportation.

Despite his quiet demeanor, we are constantly aware of Mr. Host's many accomplishments.

MR. NELSON BOND

This year Mr. Nelson Bond is a new addition to our administrative staff. As the Equal Educational Oportunity Coordinator, Mr. Bond works in the fall with migrant children, registers them and prepares their transfer record. He also is in charge of the audio visual equipment. He helps the members of the Audio Visual Club to distribute and show films and makes sure that all projectors are in working order. We would like to take this opportunity to thank Mr. Bond for his capable service.

MR. HERBERT DAWSON

Although Mr. Dawson is not often seen by many of the students, his job as Superintendent of Buildings, Grounds, and Maintenance is a busy and important one. The major part of his job is seeing that the school system's grounds and buildings are properly and efficiently cared for. He has also done work in the planning of the new baseball field and additions to the primary school. Mr. Dawson is obviously doing a fine job for our school.

On the doorstep to the future, we seniors have come to the realization that our days at A. C. S. are memories now.

The senior tea was held to show our appreciation to our parents and teachers. Special recognition was given to our advisors — Mr. Milo Freson, Mrs. Thomas Mahoney, Mrs. Jane Root, Mrs. Edward Reese, and Mr. Frank Van Apeldoorn — who helped us survive our last mad youthful year of high school.

The senior play, under the direction of Mr. Freson, was The Curious Savage. This proved to be a test for the talent of the class, but the cast came through with success.

Through the efforts of all our class members, we presented our prom. On this night, the class of '68 became part of the adult world.

In late spring, our class night was held. At this time we left a part of us with the school by the presentation of our class gift.

Finally, graduation came! This was a sad time, but pangs of our restlessness had grown through the year. We knew that we had to go on — we knew that being an invincible senior class couldn't last forever. We realized that we had to proceed to a new life.

Our last year here has given us many fond memories. When these are all part of our past, we'll be able to appreciate the youth we once had, that will never be ours again.

"Nenne", a sound which vibrates a tone of brightness, vivaciousness and pleasantness is familiar to all of us here at Albion High. Agneta Moe "Nenne", enchants everyone with her quiet yet amiable manner. Born in Borelange, Sweden, and an only child, she likes being in the Haines family with three other children including "sister", Pat. She is surprised at how friendly people are and is impressed by our dating system. Pumpkins were a new sight for Nenne and she favored the plentiful amount of fruits and vegetables. Pizza, of course, is one of her favorites and our thick steaks and drive-in movies surprised her too.

Academically Nenne reflects her personality. She is eager to learn all about us and our ways. She especially likes her Problems of Democracy class where the students discuss everyday American living and the problems which it encompasses.

Future plans for Agneta include two more years of secondary school and then on to the University of Uppsala near Stockholm to major in journalism.

All of us have a special place in our hearts for Nenne and we wish her the same happiness in her future at home as she has brought to us here.

CLASSES

The underclassmen, ranging from seventh graders to juniors have always been an important part in our school society; these are the followers of the mighty seniors. Each class is distinctive, yet altogether the classes are the student body. Through their years in Albion Central School they will make unique contributions to school history and long after they graduate they will remember their class at Albion Central School.

What is a junior? Many things, my friend.

The person who came to your door last fall selling magazines was a junior. He worked hard to sell those magazines. If you multiply his effort by nearly two hundred, you can see why the campaign was such a success.

Some of the members of the varsity teams are juniors. They participated in all of the sports; basketball, football, wrestling, swimming, baseball, track, cross-country, and cheerleading. The juniors worked hard to help make their teams good.

The people whom you saw amid piles of crepe paper and murals in the gym in March were juniors. These students put in long, hard hours working to make their prom, "Apple Blossom Time", the success that it was.

You saw the juniors in action again in April. Ten of them participated in the 82nd Signor Prize Speaking Contest. Enthusiasm was shown when almost twice that number of people wanted to participate.

At class night, the juniors were there to answer the senior challenge and to confidently tell one another that next year would be even more of a success than this year.

What is a junior? A junior is a member of the class who worked hard at all of his endeavors this year. The juniors are proud of their accomplishments.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

The sophomore class found this year to be an even greater challenge than last year. We had to memorize theorems in geometry, keep our biology notebooks up to date, and learn a foreign language. These new demands built up our sense of responsibility. The class officers elected this year are Linda Ruhlen—president, James Gardner—vice-president, Linda Nesbitt—secretary, and Joanne Vick—treasurer. Under these officers we worked hard on a new project, selling stationery. Our work resulted in a successful dance in the spring.

Our sophomore year was not all work however. We were well represented in most of the extra-curricular activities available. Sophomores played an active part in everything from band to debate club. We found even more clubs open to us, such as Future Nurses and Future Teachers. The football, basketball, and wrestling teams featured many of our star athletes. It's amazing that we got our homework done.

This past year has piled up its memories for all of us. Next year we'll be juniors selling magazines and planning our first prom. Another year has passed for the class of 1970 bringing us closer to our senior year.

FRESHMAN CLASS

Every year we move a step further.

This year, as freshmen, we have enjoyed many new and different experiences, including student council, band, chorus, and membership in the various clubs open to freshmen.

In the fall, many of our boys participated in junior varsity football. Also our class was quite well represented at the games.

As winter rolled around, the basketball and swimming season found several boys again participating on the teams.

Our first money-making project, a bake sale, was held.

Spring bounded in bringing with it baseball, where once more our class was well represented. But the big event of the spring was the freshman class party. We all had a great time!

We all want to thank our advisors and teachers who helped make it such a success. We are looking forward to our future years at A. C. S. with great anticipation and hope that they will be as much fun as this year has been.

EIGHTH GRADE

This, our last year in junior high school, got off to an exciting and promising start for most of us eighth graders. We hurriedly settled down to our normal routine, filled with lots of homework and jammed lockers. Yet we were glad to get back to school, for we were no longer the youngest, and we had someone we could look upon as "little kids."

Besides trying to cope with the ever-increasing homework, we also found many activities we could join such as band, intramurals, football and basketball and Junior Student Council.

During the school year we were also faced with our greatest decision — what to do in high school. We had to decide whether to go to college, business school, or vocational school.

Though we may be a little regretful at the thought of leaving junior high school, the entire eighth grade class looks forward to what next year will bring.

SEVENTH GRADE

"Can you tell me where to find . . . ?"

This phrase became a pet expression with most of us seventh graders. In the beginning, some of us were really confused and others were completely lost. We found ourselves caught in a whirlwind of thoughts and ideas about the coming year ranging from eager anticipation to uncertainty.

Students and teachers have helped us accept the challenge of a new school and routine. Homeroom teachers have been patient with us when we were late because of jammed lockers.

Now that we are accustomed to the "lay-out", we find the high school much more interesting and a lot more fun. In addition to homework, participating in many extra-curricular activities has taken up much of our time. Dances, sports, and the use of the swimming pool have all added to our enjoyment of our first year at Albion Central School.

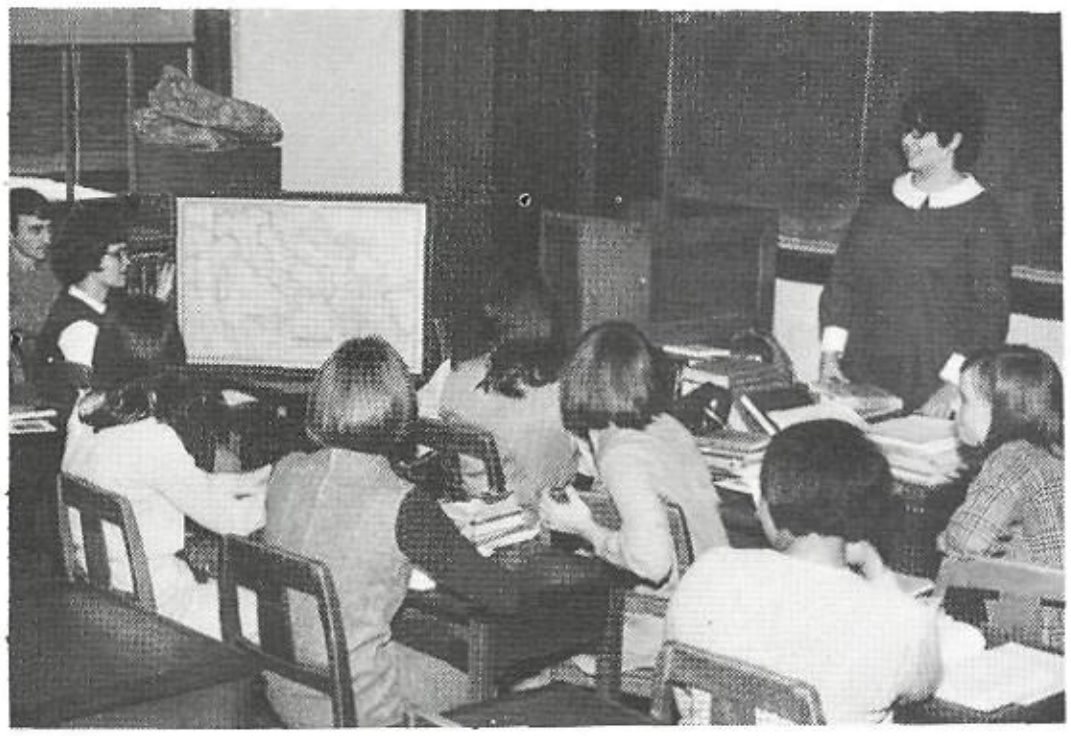
FRENCH

The study of French opens many doors for the students of Albion High School. We learn about the culture, geography, and traditions of France. This helps us to understand the Frenchmen of the past through their art and literature. We also learn about the people of today through conversation and correspondence. We, the French students, are trying to help bring this European country closer to America.

We often enjoy forty-five minutes listening to and speaking this romance language. Mrs. Irene Harrigan's conversation teaches us practical uses of French. We can tell anyone when and where we were born or about most of our regular activities. We even learn how to order a French meal so we can eat well if we ever get to France. We may not be able to fool a Frenchman yet, but with Mrs. Harrigan's experienced help, we're learning.

The students learn about Mont Saint Michel from Madame Harrigan.



The Latin III students learn the location of Cicero's birthplace.

LATIN

Who says Latin is a dead language? Certainly not the students of our Latin department! They have learned that a fundamental knowledge of Latin is useful in both England vocabulary and grammar. They have discovered much about the gods, myths, and traditions of ancient Rome. They have found that people in another time were human, too, and they have seen that it is wise to compare the past with the present, for history does often repeat itself. But most of all, they have learned that Latin is alive, not dead, and is making an important contribution to our society.

SPANISH

In today's fast-moving world, many are traveling to foreign countries or encountering foreign people. To understand the people and customs one must study some of the language. Spanish, a modern romance language, is becoming increasingly important. After learning the basic grammar, vocabulary, and phrases one may develop his thinking, speaking, and writing skills in this beautiful language.

Learning the traditions and customs is quite helpful for our future. Three years of Spanish develops and teaches us these exact things. The main goal in learning Spanish is to be able to think in Spanish. After this task has been completed one may use his acquired skills and enjoy the fine quality of art, music, and literature of the Spanish speaking people.

Cheating again!

The Original German "Putsch".

GERMAN

We German students must untangle our tongues after each recitation, and unscramble our limitless supply of endings. First year German is actually an introduction, with a little grammar, but is mostly concerned with those indispensable idioms, which give the class confidence. Second year brings grammar ,and plenty of it. There are varying verb forms, adjectives, and many other tools of the language. German is not simple, but is fun, and Frau John Koval always tries to pull us through.

MATHEMATICS

Mathematics plays a leading role in today's modern life. It gives us a chance to discover new frontiers in science, industry and every day life.

The use of math varies from keeping household budgets to putting a man on the moon. Math is the foundation of bridges, roads and skyscrapers. It encourages new inventions, new materials, and quicker, more effective types of manufacturing.

People of all ages use math. Children use numbers in their games. Teenagers are faced with their high school marks. Adults keep track of money, bills, and taxes.

In an advancing world, mathematics will always be necessary. It is important to gain as much knowledge in this field as is possible. Those who learn more in math will have a much better understanding of our future society.

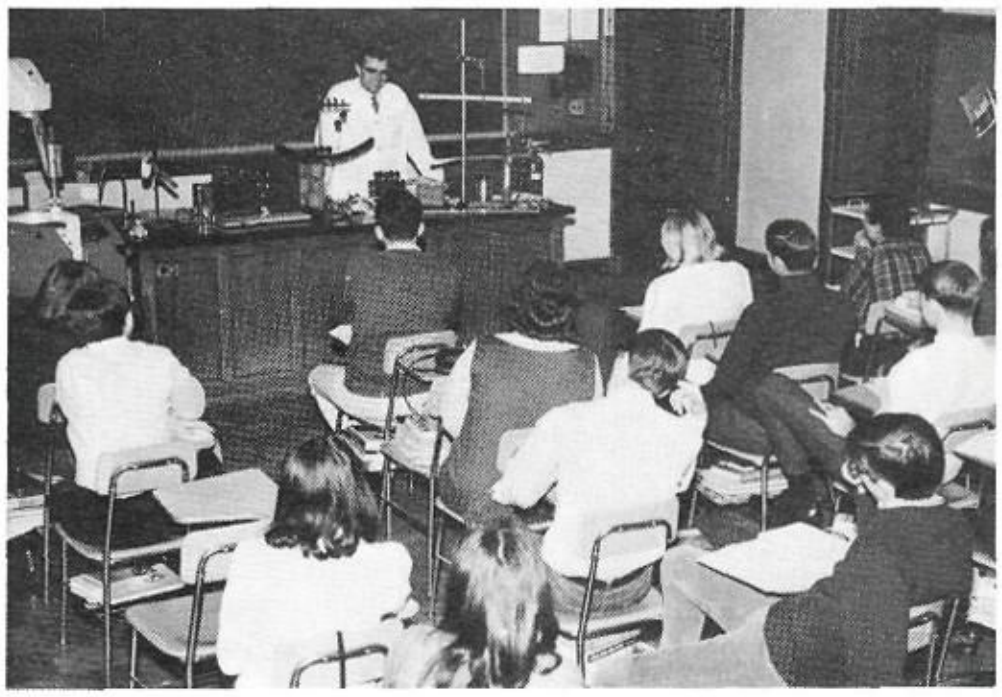
ENGLISH

The ability to use English well is the key to the whole learning process. One cannot pick up a science book or even read a mathematics problem without realizing that an understanding of our language is important. Interpretation of the words is impossible until the fundamentals, such as sentence structure and vocabulary, are mastered. However, in order to understand how our language has grown, we must look back to the days of Shakespeare, Poe, and Mark Twain. As we read we are able to see how each author interpreted the English language of his time. English is important not only for learning but also for effective communication.

SCIENCE

Science is a precise study. Students must change from the arbitrary and often numerous answers of English and history to the either right or wrong answers of science. They put their newly acquired knowledge to use in the labs, by dissecting frogs in biology, searching for unknown elements in chemistry, and proving physical laws basic to our environment in physics. But aside from the difficult assignments and low marks characteristic of these courses, they prepare us for the stringent collegiate type of teaching. We are fortunate to have such a qualified staff to guide us in our struggle.



Mr. Salchak teaches chemistry through "strongly suggestive" reasoning.

Pete discovers the Mississippi.

HISTORY

History is much more than dull uninteresting facts, and tales of ancient conquests. Instead history relates the problems and the glories of civilizations, and offers basic truths and characteristics that affect the world that we now know.

An understanding of history makes students more interested in the consequences of daily events. Our knowledge of Asian culture can help us interpret the actions of Vietnam; a recognition of the characteristics that predominate in Russia and behind the Iron Curtain can help to explain the motives of these nations; an awareness of the situations and factors that once caused war can help us prepare for a safer future.

History is not boring or unimportant; it is the story of a complex and exciting world.

COMMERCIAL

A knowledge of basic commercial skills and an ability to work with the tools of business are essential to both the businessman and the consumer. Our commercial teachers offer courses in bookkeeping, salesmanship, business management, business arithmetic, personal and regents typing and shorthand I and II. The aim of the commercial program is to increase efficiency, neatness, and accuracy in organization in these fields. This curricula helps to train students who are interested in entering the world of business by enabling them to gain a clearer understanding of all aspects of employment in business.

The seventh period typing class develops speed.

HOME ECONOMICS

Everyone must realize that our world is changing and that today's society is quickly becoming less home-centered and more industrialized. Home economics stresses the continuing importance of home life, child care, and family attitudes. Students prepare for the future by learning to cook, sew, keep house, make the most of a dollar, improve their appearance, co-ordinate their clothing, use proper etiquette, and to improve their surroundings. Girls in home economics will better the future by having the needed, but often lacking, outlook and understanding of the world in a modern era. This ability to function as an individual will also prepare well-informed community and world citizens.

VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE

The wolrd depends on agriculture for survival. No one, from the millionaire to the pauper, can live without food. Nations cannot thrive if their people are starving. The greatest scientific advances are useless if a hungry universe is asked to appreciate them.

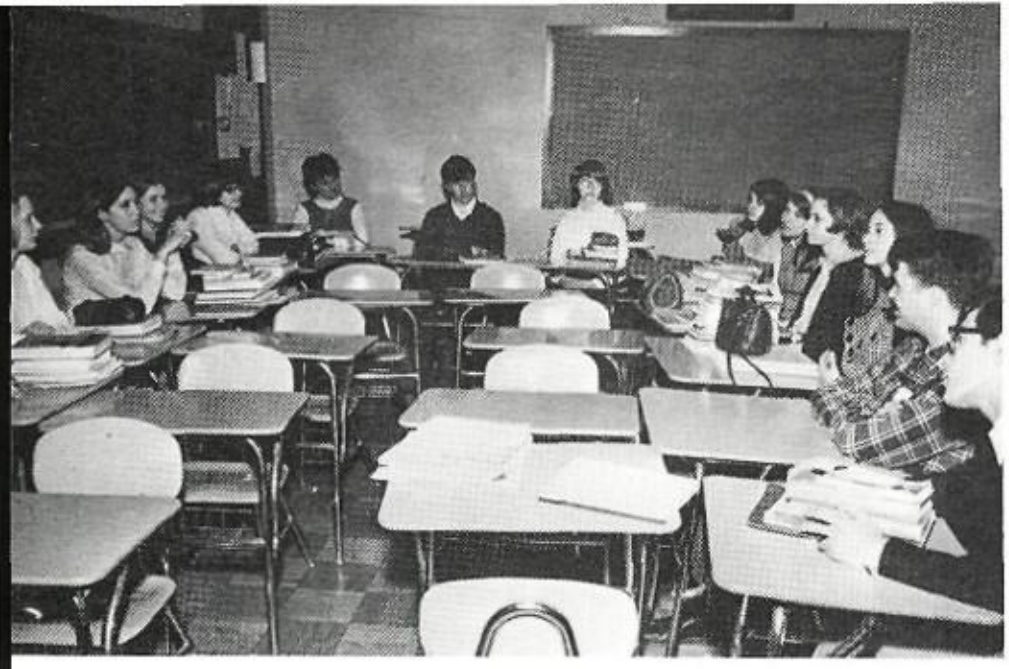
The number of farms in the United States is steadily declining. This is loading a tremendous burden and responsibility upon the farmer of tomorrow. He must be someone trained well in his field so that he will not flounder in failure. Those taking the vocational agriculture course are taking their first giant step toward a better future for us all.

The FFA learns from Mr. Van APPLE dorn

Miss Sundell's 5th period class paints industriously.

ART

Because we are facing a future filled with complicated industries and thinking machines, more and more people skilled in the art field are needed. Students who pursue art as a course of study while in high school can apply it in their jobs or as a hobby. The student who selects mechanical drawing can look to a career as an engineer or a draftsman, while the artist can become a designer or an interior decorator. The art department of the Albion Central School gives students the opportunity to express themselves through sculpture and painting. Many outstanding pieces are entered in the Scholastic Art Show held annually in Rochester. Guided by Miss Margaret Sansone and Miss Doreen Sundell, students combine imagination and ability to brighten the halls of the school with paintings and other pieces of art work. The appreciation and talent that are cultivated in the art courses are priceless qualities.



The knights of the round table discuss the problems of our world.

PROBLEMS OF DEMOCRACY

With a title like problems of democracy, one knows immediately that this subject covers a wide range of topics. Unlike most other courses, "problems" is only a one semester study. Consisting mostly of discussions and research this subject is a pleasant change from ordinary classroom activity.

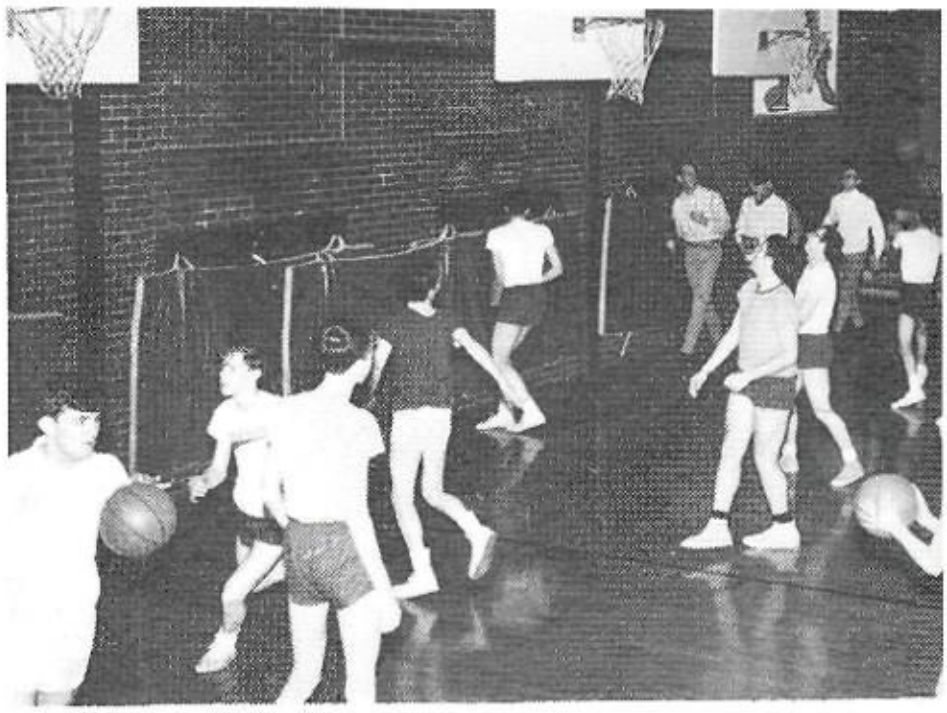
The discussions are moderated but not dominated by Mrs. Edward Reese. This class has delved into many of the problems of varied design and origin which face our country. No facet of opinion is left unexplored. Discussions are not restricted to politics but also encompass social, economic and ethnic dilemmas which plague the structure of our democratic processes.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

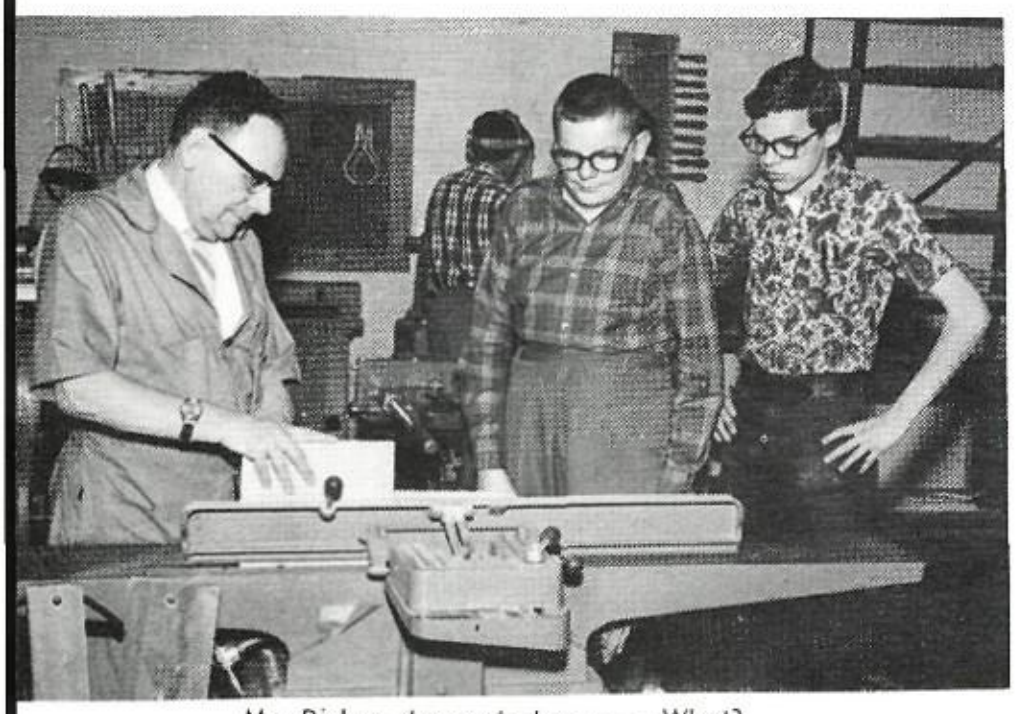
A highly trained faculty and a well organized curricula with the proper facilities give Albion High a solid program of physical education for both boys and girls. The different gymnastics and New York State physical fitness tests given by the gym teachers show us our ability in speed, agility, endurance and strength.

While the weather permits, most classes as well as intramurals can be found outdoors. During the cold and rainy weather voices can be heard coming from the gym and the pool whether it be during classes or after school.

This year the faculty has had the pleasure of welcoming a new member, Mr. Gregory Kenney, to the physical education staff. Mr. Larry Graham, Mr. Kenney, Mrs. John Sage and Mr. Edward Stackwick are dedicated to their jobs and deserve our deepest appreciation for their endeavors.



The basketball stars of Mr. Stackwick's gym class.



Mr. Rickey demonstrates---What?

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Industrial Arts is a phase of general education dealing with the materials, processes, and problems of industry. Its goal is to train students to become proficient with the tools and equipment available for projects in electricity, metal, and wood. It helps to develop skilled workers by building a knowledge of advocational as well as hand skills.

Industrial arts teachers, Mr. David Sanford and Mr. Oscar Rickey, try to orient students in the pertinent aspects of the products and recreation of industrial arts. Under their guidance and supervision, the ideals of tomorrow's industry are being unfolded today.

DRIVER EDUCATION

Every year the number of automobiles on American roads greatly increases. Driver education courses protect the drivers of these cars by teaching them not only how to drive, but also how to care for their valuable investment. In theory classes there are discussions of the rules of the road, and how to buy a good car and service it for maximum use. On the road, students learn to drive correctly and carefully and practice maneuvers like the three point turn and parallel parking. Mr. Sam Salchak's services as driver education instructor should be greatly appreciated for he helps to decrease accidents and increase the safety of all citizens.

Driver Education students learn about the parts of the engine.

Traditions have become very much a part of our school life. The Signor Prize Speaking Contest, the senior play, and the senior tea are some of the activities in which we can participate. Even the Chevron, in publication since 1912, is a school tradition.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The goal of the student council this year was to improve its standing in the school and community. Under the enthusiastic leadership of Douglas Beech we tried our best to accomplish this by strengthening our relations with our teachers, the community and the students.

We built up school spirit with a class night at several basketball games. The class with the largest percentage of attendance received a cash prize for its treasury. We talked about participating in a quiz bowl or entering a team in the WBEN forum. The supply store was completely renovated and special sales were presented each week. We tried to make the year more enjoyable with such money making projects as a computer dance, a KB Yo-Yo game, and the junior-senior basketball game. The proceeds from a community flag sale were given to the community for next year's Christmas decorations down town. We hope that by these actions we have built up the prestige of the student council.

This year the council has also worked to improve itself. A committee was formed to bring our constitution up to date. Our treasury was enhanced by a pizza sale held with the Chevron staff and the income from our other money making projects. We used this money to sponsor a scholarship and to help pay for the assemblies and awards.

Our student council has accomplished much this year, under the capable leadership of president Douglas Beech, vice-president Barbara Wells, secretary Susan Farnsworth, and treasurer Cheryl Decczynski.

CHESS CLUB

The Chess Club is relatively new to Albion. It started a few years ago and has grown ever since. Although our membership hasn't increased as rapidly as hoped, the club is having its first match this year, with Medina, and hopes for several more competitions in the future.

The members meet every week and compete among themselves, learning a little more of the techniques of chess and each game. For those interested, the club offers an opportunity to learn the game of chess and match wits and skills with with other players.

SERVICE CLUB

The Service Club of Albion Central School is a student group dedicated to the betterment of student life. The members of the club accomplish this by setting a good example for others and by trying to eliminate the poor behavior which reflects on our school.

With the new schedule continuing this year, the monitors have done an excellent job in keeping order in the school and eliminating rule infractions. The members have handled themselves well during the prolonged lunch period, keeping classroom areas quiet and keeping the lunch lines moving.

The members of the Club are grateful for the work of the advisors, Mr. David Sanford and Mr. Edward Stackwick. Their leadership has kept the club a group of responsible members. The officers worked long and hard hours setting up the club roster and working out the monitor duty schedule.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

It is the aim of the National Honor Society to participate in activities which will pertain to our basic purposes — scholarship, leadership, service and character. Membership is determined by these qualities.

This fall, under the guidance of Miss Norma DiLaura and Mrs. Richard Cook, our officers were chisen. Susan Farnsworth was elected President, Terry Ging — Vice President, Paula Bower — Secretary, and William Parke — Treasurer.

Early in the year, many of the members attended a regional conference in Fairport.

Our bookstore was opened with a large selection of books, and we set up schedules for our tutoring service. Each of the members tutors at least once a week.

We are now making plans for money-raising projects for later in the year. Other projects include improving the induction ceremony, sponsoring a scholarship, and making an effort to improve our image in the minds of the student body.

CHEVRON STAFF

Due to the change in advisors, the Chevron Staff got off to a slow start. However, the members worked especially hard to produce Chevron 1968.

To help pay the many expenses of producing this book, the Promotion Staff, under the leadership of Lynne Pritchard and James Neilans, undertook many financial projects, including a pizza sale and pop sale at the basketball games.

Through the Chevron, the staff has tried to give an accurate description of true school life in Albion. This seemingly informal book contains countless hours of work and exhaustion, but most of all it contains the desire to present to Albion Central the best yearbook possible.

May we express our thanks to Mrs. Jane Root, our advisor, for her guidance and to the editors who made this publication a reality.

LITERARY STAFF

After the dummy copy of the yearbook has been drawn up, the work of the Literary Staff begins. Members of each class are represented on the staff; their job is to write all the copy that appears in the Chevron. Once assignments are made the writers talk to teachers about curricula articles, ask for the advisor's help on the club writeups and look up records for the sports stories. The staff then turns in its work, which is corrected and handed back if rewrites are necessary. After several months of meetings and efforts to produce the best articles, the writeups are sent to the typists.

The work of the Literary Staff plays an important rolt in the creation of the Chevron.

CLARION ECHO

When a student buys one of the monthly issues of the Clarion Echo, he seldom realizes the amount of time and effort that is necessary to publish a good school newspaper. Early in the school year, staffs are organized and the business section sells pop, hotdogs, and candy at football games to pay for printing costs. Assignments for each paper are given several weeks before the paper appears and during that time features are written, editorials and polls are discussed, candid photographs are taken and creative ideas for stories and poems are developed in the imaginations of the staff. The paper is usually printed at the end of the month, and is on sale during morning homerooms for two days. Our paper is sent to other schools in this area under an exchange system. In May, the editors have the chance to attend a press day at St. Bonaventure University where suggestions for improvement of school newspapers are offered. The staff sincerely hopes that they have succeeded in presenting an informative and interesting newspaper to the students.

CHOIR

In this era of ultra-modern music it is gratifying to know that a large number of young people are sincerely interested in serious music, in both its classical and contemporary forms. The consistently professional performances of the Glee Club are an outstanding example of this student interest.

The choir, accompanied by Marcia Lamont and Kae Woodruff, contributed four selections to our annual P.T.A. Christmas concert. Also, a solo, "Cantique de Noel," was sung by Diana Bennett. The mingled voices of the chorus were again heard when the spring concert and graduation exercises culminated the year's activities.

Many Glee Club members participated in area festivals. We were proud to have Meredith Leigh and William Parke taking part in the All-State Choir at Spencerport. Albion was also well represented at the County Music Festival in Kendall with sixty-nine students singing in the junior and senior choirs.

Mrs. Burr Trumble's ability as a director can be measured by the influence she exerts on her students. There can be no greater tribute than the rich and enduring appreciation of music her students carry with them. Many Albion graduates are singing in college choirs and madrigal groups, which seems to prove the worth of the time spent.

BAND

The Albion Purple Eagles have had an enjoyable and challenging year. Each day, approximately seventy students practiced enthusiastically for several concerts and activities.

Throughout the summer the Eagles, under the direction of Mr. Moses Sherman, placed high in various parades including the State Fair. They also performed at Expo '67 in Montreal.

Since school has begun, the concert band has had its share of glory. Several senior members went to All-State. Then the Christmas concert came with all the familiar tunes. On January 13, the members proudly represented Albion in "Concert-in-the-Round" at the Rochester War Memorial.

In February many attended the county festival at Kendall. Late in March, they travelled to Alfred Ag. Tech. for a concert.

After the excitement of competition, the band presented its annual spring concert.

Mr. Sherman deserves a great deal of appreciation for the wonderful performances of the Purple Eagles this year. Along with the officers — President Alec Sherman, Vice-President Marcia Downey, Secretary Marcia Lamont and Treasurer Sue Davis — the members will continue their hard work to earn more honor — maybe a top honor — for Albion Central throughout the summer.

INTERMEDIATE BAND

The members of the intermediate band work hard to prepare themselves for the exciting marching season ahead. This band, under the direction of Mr. Moses Sherman, works along with the concert band to finance the band's activities. They sell candy, participate in paper drives, sell records, and assist at concerts to help raise funds.

By playing in the intermediate band they get practice and experience in the field of music. One night a week, Mr. Sherman meets with the new members for marching practice. Most of the members of the intermediate band are seventh and eighth graders. A few are enjoying their first year of experience in playing a musical instrument.

It prepares the members musically to advance to the concert band and greater challenges.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

Is experience the best teacher? The members of the Future Teachers of America think so. With the help of Mr. Bernard Lynch, the juniors and seniors found teachers in the primary and high schools who wanted their help, while the sophomores assisted the guidance counselors. As they worked, the members were able to look more closely at the teaching profession and give some thought to making teaching their future.

Under Miss Norma DiLaura's watchful eye the members enjoyed many interesting programs and successfully completed some worthwhile projects. Representatives of various colleges from around the state spoke to members about continuing their education and choosing a career in teaching. All those servicemen overseas who had attended Albion schools received Christmas cards from the Future Teachers, and the members rewarded themselves with an enjoyable Christmas party. In June the club held its annual picnic at Miss DiLaura's, at the end of a thought provoking and profitable year.

Willing to help others, happy to volunteer and interested in a health career — these are the requirements future nurses must meet. Sophomore, junior ond senior members of this club work as volunteer aides in the school health office and in the Arnold Gregory Memorial Hospital. Attired in their familiar candy-striped uniforms, they report after school, on weekends and holidays and help to brighten the day for many patients and the nursing staff by performing their numerous tasks.

Programs they have enjoyed this year have included speakers from nursing schools, and several health films. This year, soap was sent to Vietnam and financial aid was given to the medical ship, Hope.

There are eight senior girls who plan to enter nursing school this fall.

F. F. A.

The Future Farmers of America is an organization which shapes today's boys into useful and vital members of tomorrow's society. It is these fellows who will help feed the hungry populations of the future.

This year Albion chapter elected Roger Stinson as president, with William Basinait supporting him as vice-president. The office of secretary was filled by David Krull, and that of treasurer by William Putnam. Gary Davy was voted sentinel, and the club's reporter for '67-'68 was Albert Patten.

Under Mr. Frank VanApeldoorn's guiding supervision the F. F. A. participated in many activities this past year, including the Horticultural Show in Rochester in which the boys competed in ten contests besides fruit and potatoes. At a food and health demonstration in our own auditorium Albion, represented by Jack Baron and Donald Hill, placed third, being beaten by Medina in first place, and Barker in second.

Truly, the Future Farmers of America is a group in which Albion can take unlimited pride.

LIBRARY ASSISTANTS

A great amount of work goes into running a library successfully. In fact, Miss Evelyn Collins, the librarian, has no trouble finding work for her eighty or more assistants. Every period of every day finds several aides checking books, filing cards, and returning books to their proper places. Then there is the never ending task of tracing lost books and collecting fines for overdue books. The assistants partially relieve Miss Collins of the task of finding a certain magazine for a school report. They offer helpful advice when a desperate student doesn't know where to look for information and doesn't dare face Miss Collins with his ignorance. The assistants take a large piece of the work from Miss Collins, and she could never do without them. It is through the efforts of the librarian and her assistants that the library is made a useful tool for the students.

AMERICAN FIELD SERVICE

"Walk together, talk together, O ye peoples of the earth: then and only then shall ye have peace." This is why the American Field Service Program was formed in 1947. Our own A. F. S. Club strongly feels the need for "peace through understanding", and is very active in promoting this idea. Members are eager and willing to do their small share in the world which needs peace.

With successful money-raising projects, such as a Christmas card sale and a pizza sale, our A. F. S. club will help send a student abroad during the summer. This year our exchange student, Agneta Moe, has really made us feel that our aim to open a door to peace and friendship is being fulfilled.

AMERICAN FIELD SERVICE CLUB

The American Field Service pizza sale brought good results and Albion's 1967 candidate, Susan Farnsworth, was chosen to spend eleven weeks in Songkhla, Thailand.

Susan learned that Songkhla is a large town on the Gulf of Siam where the daily temperature is eighty degrees. Her family is Buddhist and consists of Captain and Mrs. Narksompong, Nara, Narit, Naree, Rapee, and Nares. Her father is a police captain and her mother sells pork in the village market.

Some of Susan's experiences included classes in Thai schools, Thai dancing festivals, Thai boxing, and a Buddhist ordination. She also spent several weeks in Bangkok, the Thair capital.

"My summer was a great chance to live in a completely different society," Sue marveled. "I came home with a better understanding of Asia and a love of the Thai culture."

DEBATE CLUB

Every person has emotions, observations, and ideas which he would like to communicate to other people. The Albion Debate Club helps students to communicate with others through the media of public speaking, debating, creative writing, and drama.

This year, under the guidance of Mrs. Roy Baker, and with the assistance of Mrs. Moses Sherman, Miss Ann McCulloch, and Miss Sandra Palermo, the club had an enjoyable and instructive year.

The debate section explored "Crime in America" and "Hippy-ism", while the drama section produced part of the humorous play Miggles. The speech section worked in the fields of persuasive speaking, and interpretation, extemporaneous speaking, and radio and television announcing, while the members of the creative writing section devoted their efforts to Depth, a creative writing magaine.

Highlights of the year included a fund-raising dance with disc-jockey Dan Neavereth, trips to speech and drama workshops, a visit to a TV station and the annual speech competitions at Geneseo and Brockport.

AUDIO VISUAL

"This afternoon, class, we are going to have a film . . . " Since many of today's teaching aids are in the form of filmstrips and slides, learning is made easier for the student. If it weren't for the Audio Visual Club, most of these aids would not be available to the student. The members of this organization are trained to run the tape recorders and different kinds of projectors that our school has. These people work hard, giving up study halls so that other students may benefit. Through the knowledge and experience of these club members, others may be taken back in history to the time of the Crusades, or the Civil War. Students may learn of life in Cambodia or Bolivia. To the members of the Audio Visual Club, we are truly grateful.

SENIOR PLAY

Cries of "Louder ,you've got to be louder!", and "Farnsworth! Where's Farnsworth?" could be heard ringing through the auditorium as the director, cast and crew of this year's senior play put their talents and time into producing The Curious Savage.

This three-act comedy by John Patrick is the story of millionaire Ethel Savage and her desire to help other people have the foolish things they have always wanted. Her hypocritical and avaricious step-children, however, would like to have all that money for themselves, so they have her committed to a mental institution. While she is at "The Cloisters," Mrs. Savage gains new insight from the disarming patients, who eventually help her out-fox her despicable children.

The Curious Savage, which had a serious as well as a humorous aspect, was enjoyed as much by the cast as it was by the audience. Special thanks go to the director, Mr. Milo Freson, whose invaluable aid made this senior play the best ever.

SPORTS

The question of the value of athletics to school life is often asked. That they are of value is not doubtful in the minds of the students. We believe that physical and mental excellence is achieved through rigorous training and stiff competition.

"The real athlete is a manly man,
With rudy color, and cheeks of tan.
His aim in the world, or the field of play,
Is to win his game in a legitimate way."

FOOTBALL

Winning isn't everything, but making the effort to win is. Although not attaining a winning season, the Albion Eagles Varsity Football team certainly produced a winning effort. Unable to combine ability, smooth execution, and effort until the last game the Eagles had to be satisfied with a 2-4-1 record.

Even without victories team spirit was high and the mistakes were kept at a minimum. Although the Purple Eagles suffered a heartbreaking 13-6 defeat to Medina they played exceedingly well. Finally in their last game, a 24-0 victory over Barker, the Albion Eleven showed their capability in an impressive performance.

Guiding the team throughout the season were Seniors Dan Albanese, Michael Albanese, Jeffery Bennett, Ray Hannah, Steven Heard, Louis Hyde, Tom Neilans, Tony Piazza and Daniel Rose. Under the fine coaching of Charles Villa and Edward Stackwick five boys received special recognition in an honorable mention all-star team drawn up by Niagara-Orleans League Officials. These ballplayers were Ray Hannah, John Leddon, Tom Neilans, Peter Snell and James Theodorakos.

BASKETBALL

The Albion Varsity tried to live up to the expectations of everyone during the 1967-68 season. Although their record does not show how well they played, the team was always striving to do their best. What the team lacked in talent, they made up for in spirit and determination.

The highlight of the season was the exciting victory over arch-rival Medina. This boosted the morale of the team and inspired them to play better ball during the second round.

The three co-captains, Dean Dion, Mark Restivo and Alec Sherman, urged the team on even when the going was rough. Next's year's team should be more impressive with a returning nucleus of juniors and junior varsity stepping in to fill the shoes of the three veterans.

The Junior Varsity should also be given much credit for the excellent ball they played this year.

TRACK

A record-setting 880 relay team and brand new track — these are the credentials the Purple Eagle track team are carrying for 1968. Last year, a relay team composed of Altor Hamilton, Raymond Hannah, Dan Johnson and John Leddon turned in amazing performances with a win at sectionals and a fast time of 1:32.8 at the Western New York Championships. As for this year, the team has promised to turn in a winning time, and the whole school is behind them in their efforts.

A completely renovated track will be ready, it is hoped, for the new season. A fresh bed of cinders and removal of irregularities in the corners will guarantee better performance and faster times.

Just as last year all meets will be dual competition and the high hurdles has been officially incorporated as part of the meets. Albion hopes to have another winning season, as the team had a won 4, lost 3 record.

BASEBALL

The 1967 ACS baseball team paved the road to success with tears and sweat. With an outstanding record of twelve wins and two losses, Coach Larry Graham's "Iron Men" once again captured the Niagara-Orleans League Championship.

This year's team, pushed by the momentum of the '67 champs, and led by pride, desire, and perserverance will again set out on that long winding road.

A new baseball diamond, adjacent to the high school bus garage, should be ready by this spring. With honest effort, the new field will hopefully be initiated with a winning season and maybe even another trophy.

Coach Graham will be depending heavily on his returning veterans this year. The seniors, Ron Marek, Jim Neilans, Tom Neilans, and Mark Restivo will supply the hitting power; while the defensive support will be handled by juniors Allen Eibl, Kevin Kent, Bart Salisbury, and Jim Theodorakos.

WRESTLING

Albion, in 1964, recruited its first wrestling team. Each year it has become more popular. Now it has become a major sport at Albion with outstanding wrestlers in most weight classes. Next year the team will have lost only one starter, Thomas Neilans, who is a member of this year's graduating class.

With the many experienced men coming back next year, it can be assumed that the Albion Central High School grapplers will be on top. Returning will be John Drisdon who was a sectional champion at the 180 pound weight class last year. John also placed third at the qualifying tournament for intersectionals.

Other outstanding matmen who will return to competition in the Niagara Orleans League are William Allen, Willie Drisdon, John Grillo, Joseph Martilotta, Thomas Narburgh, and Peter Snell.

miss gray,
I've really enjoyed Latin this year - maybe the grammar and translations were a little too much for me, but the culture was loads of fun! I hope you come back next year - I'd like to take Latin IV - but if you don't, good luck in whatever you do. I hope you like college & your 6th period class. Thanks for a swell year & for being you a good teacher. Merry Christmas & happy New Year!
Love,
Mary

Miss Gray,
This year has been a great learning experience for me. Latin class was my favorite class (not Latin, the subject) I want to take it next year but probably won't. I can't wait till Saturday. (Huh?) Well anyway I'll write you from your biography if you want. I hope ya get into Perkins or U. of K. or wherever you want to go, but then again I want ya back next year.

Love,
Kim

SPONSORS

Traditionally the Chevron staff has relied upon local industries, businesses, and other sponsors for financial aid. All of our sponsors are greatly appreciated. If it weren't for them, there would be no Chevron. We would like to take this opportunity to thank the sponsors of Chevron '68.

Miss Gray,
How nice it was to have you as a teacher. I'm sorry about the way I acted at times. I guess I'm not the only one who says "dear" every second word. I'm sure you'll have a nice vacation for being such a darn good sport about the hard time I gave you.

Love,
MaryLou

Miss Gray,
It's been a pretty good year, since we all passed Latin. I hope that your Latin II classes do well on the regents. I hope you are accepted at U. C. L. A. If you ever go to Europe again, be sure to tell us all about it!

Dear Miss Gray,

U-I sure has been fun in latin class this year. U'm glad you were our teacher. We had a few bad times but everything worked out in the end. U hope you come back to teach(?) us in latin 4 next year. U'm glad we got to be friends and U hope we always stay that way. Best of luck in your future and in college (if you go.)

love ya,

lynda.
